Too Many Tears

Guy Lombardo

Too many tears, each night I go to bed
I lie awake and shed too many tears
Your memory is bringing me too many tearsToo many years I wasted loving you
And you know I've been through
Too many years I cared a lot what have I gotToo many tears, I know I should have found a new love
And don't you think I didn't try?
But I found out a number two love, never seems to satisfyI'll never learn to smile again and sing
I gave you everything
And in return what did you leave for souvenirs?
Too many tears
