Cross the Line

Biohazard

The fires of hate burn deep inside
You swear it's truth, but I know you lied
I never thought that you would try to take me, break me
For all the years of pain and tears
Where you preyed upon my biggest fears
You didn't really think I could forgive you, did you?You didn't really think I could forgive you, did you?
You didn't really think I could forgive you, did you?
Did you?I did what I thought a man should do
But looking back, I'm glad we're through
You took and took from me till I was broken, broken
With selfish ways you've made your bed
I think of you as if you're dead
You held me back for years but now it's over, overYou held me back for years but now it's over, over
You held me back for years but now it's over, over
You didn't really think I could forgive you, did you?
You didn't really think I could forgive you, did you?All my love has turned to hate
You've crossed the line, now it's too late
All my love has turned to hate
You've crossed the line
Accept your fateAll my love has turned to hate
You've crossed the line, now it's too late
All my love has turned to hate
You've crossed the line
Accept your fate

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/