Love Lost

Mindy Smith

It's been a long hot summer,
And I'm still trying to leave you alone.
But it's just getting hotter the more I try to let you go.I don't want to feel this blue.
I want to be over you.
I don't want to feel this blue.
But I do.It's been a hard year this fall,
And I still don't know where you're running from.
And the sky keeps on spinning.
The stars are running and hidin' from the sun.I don't want to feel this blue.
I want to be over you.
I don't want to feel this blue.
But I do.But love lost if the heart needs a reason to cry for,
If the heart needs a reason to lie for lie for, to lie for
There's no better reason but love lost.Love lost if the heart needs a reason to try for
If the heart needs a reason to die for, to die for
There's no better reason than love lostIt's been a while since I've saw you
I still don't know what you're running for
Guess you were looking around for something better
Or something moreDon't want to feel this blue.
I want to be over you.
I don't want to feel this blue.The love lost if the heart needs a reason to cry for
If the heart needs a reason to lie for, to lie for
There's no better reason than love lostLove lost if the heart needs a reason to try for
If the heart needs a reason to die for, to die for
There's no better reason than love lostLove lost if the heart needs a reason to cry for
If the heart needs a reason to lie for, to lie for
There's no better reason than love lostOh love lost if the heart needs a reason to try for
If the heart needs a reason to die for, to die for
There's no better reason than love lostIt's been a long hot summer
And I'm still trying to leave you alone.
But it's just getting hotter the more I try to let you go.Don't want to feel this blue
I want to be over you
I don't want to feel this blue
But I do

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/