

Get out of the Car

Aesop Rock

I see how y'all be trying to front, man y'all be fronting, man
 Been a bit since Mu died
 Been a lot more lost than awake
I recall thinking someday someone's gonna say it's all from the same cause and effect
 And I just couldn't fathom
Blaming a whole new page on a made-up chain reaction
 Each claim individual peaks and pockets
 Pains in a slew of unique nuances
 Nah' mean?
When you wake up eight years non responsive
 It's a lot to process
 Gone from a happier jack in a box
 To a package of clogged up chakras
 Oh shazbat
Not the everafter we wanted from the once upon a time
 Dot-dot-dot
Once upon a time he was so much more than a punchline for his own potshots
 Ah! Watch the Impossible Kid
Everything that he touch turns promptly to shit
 If I zoom on out I can finally admit
 It's all been a blur since Mu got sick
None of the subsequent years stood a chance
 Whether he was mom's or his man's
Whether he was pop's or his girl that was poison
 Heart full of canines
 Head full of voices
 Whole life trying to quiet them down
Like a suicide king with a knife in his crown
 Hounds at bay, but they just won't stay
 True friendship in a tugboat way
"A" go dark in the face of the fucked when the fucked was a friend that was basically done
 Into the woods go his alien tongue
 It was that or a textbook fake and a funk
 And I can't
 Here go to hindsight
 8 years been one long blindside
I could pinpoint seven more turns that occurred cause he never really healed from the first
 Oh what a world
 Any hack is a myth

Any dap is a joke, any map is a trick
Any graph is a hoax
Ease on down, I'm burning up
I'm bleeding out
Knowing ain't half the battle
That's a bullshit quip written by some asshole
You can own what you are
And still sit around stoned in your car
Not doing shit, halfway to nil
Cranky and waiting for a boss key and hat full of bills
Get out the car, Aes
