Your Name (Has Slipped My Mind Again)

Ultravox

Something stops me from seeing too clear
A misty haze floats 'round the room
The murmurs make it hard to hear
The voices and the wordsThe days seem to drag away
My speech is sparse and tends to slur
I wonder what happened to my friend today
Can't hear the wordsYour name has slipped my mind again
Your name has slipped my mind againIt's hard to focus in this light
I'm growing warm and feeling dull
This heartbeat pounds with vicious fright
There's something to rememberI clench my fist but feel no sensation
The walls around me spin and sway
A flash back image in my vision
I rememberYour name has slipped my mind again
Your name has slipped my mind againYour name has slipped my mind again
Your name has slipped my mind againYour name has slipped my mind again

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/