Slaveboy

Sundown Delay

We wait in the desert with patience and greed
Horseback bandits three
Our hands on the triggers about to commit
The perfect train robbery
Thereâ€™s smoke in the valley the iron horse breathes
And itsâ€™ bank draft is all that we need
And when we strike we try to spare lives
At least your daughters and wives

Since I saw you yesterday I canâ€™t forget you
If you chose to walk all over me I would gladly let you
Give me a chance to worship you
And Iâ€™m gonna be your slaveboy too
Since I saw you yesterday I canâ€™t forget you

We ride through the desert and over the hills
Lucky and scared and excited
The Marshallâ€™s probably a few hours behind
And his skills are worrying our minds
A silhouette of a building a brothel and bar
And we needed to rest for the night
So we went inside, I was happy confide
I couldnâ€™t resist if I tried

Since I saw you yesterdayâ€¦

And finally came the morning sun
After a night of sounds of firing guns
But when the Marshall shot my friends
I was still tied to your bed
Paying the price

Since I saw you yesterdayâ€¦

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/