

Alright

Bonsai Nation

Maybe if it's alright, we can go home again
I'm falling onto thin ice, and I'm tired of the swim
And maybe if it's alright, we can get off the road again
We'll find our way in due time, if we don't wander off the edge

I just can't find the words that I can believe in
Not even my own thoughts are worth all the thinking
I can't wrap my head around such strange devotion
Not even the tide can escape from the ocean

I've been thinking all night of how fucking hard it's been
I finally got my mind right as the world begins to end

I just can't find the words that I can believe in
Not even my own thoughts are worth all the thinking
I can't wrap my head around such strange devotion
Not even the tide can escape from the ocean

And maybe if it's alright we can get off the road again
'Cuz everything in due time is just a means to an end

Lyrics submitted by Bonsai Nation.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>