

Heart Full Of Rain

Joe Cocker

A heart full of rain and memories
I'm feelin' the strain and missing you so desperately
I need the shelter of your arms tonight, oh baby
I need you by my side
I don't know why things go the way they do
They just keep taking me down
I can't deny, I'm so into you and lost when you're not around
If I could hold you, I could let go of the pain
But tonight I've got a heart full of rain
Unkind words blindly spoken, faith was broken

And you walked away from this world
Our love has created, hope has faded
Return your flame to this heart full of rain
A heart full of rain and memories
Love's not in vain even if you should say
You no longer need me
I'll keep believing until all that remains
Is your memory and a heart full of rain
And your memory and a heart full of rain

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>