Never Should Have Let You Go

Jordan Hill

It feels so good to have you near
It feels so good to have you here again
You're quite a man
To give to me a second chanceI don't know what came over me
I don't know why did I believe
The things my so-called friends
Were telling meI thought that I was missing out
On a good time
I thought I'd be better off
Living the single lifeNow I know, that I never should have let you go
I know now that I was wrong, so wrong, was I
To ever leave your side
Now I know, that I never should have let you goNow I know, that I never should have let you go
I know now that I was wrong, so wrong, was I
I've come to realize
That I never should have let you goYou are one of a rare breed
'Cause I've never known of a man
So caring, so loving, so understanding
Yes, you are babyExcuse me if I, if I start crying
I can't believe
That you're still in love with me
I'm undeserving, I'm unworthy
Of such a good feelingI was a fool not to know
With you is where I belong
I thought I'd be better off
On my ownNow I know, that I never should have let you go
I know now that I was wrong, so wrong, was I
To ever leave your side
Now I know, that I never should have let you goI know now that I was wrong, so wrong, was I
I've come to realize
That I never should have let you goI was wrong, to leave you alone
I was wrong to let you go
I was wrong, to say goodbye, and I apologize
But I was all mixed up in the mind
I couldn't see what was right in front of me, butNow I know, that I never should have let you go
I know now that I was wrong, so wrong, was I
To ever leave your sideNow I know, that I never should have let you go
I know now that I was wrong, so wrong, was I
I've come to realize

That I never should have let you goNow I know, that I never should have let you go
I know now that I was wrong, so wrong, was I
I've come to realize
That I never should have let you go

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/