Long Drives

Brian Fallon

I built a room for you in the back of my mind
Where the ravenous wolves and the ghosts I know reside
You were amazing, you were always on my mind
We were secrets to keep, crows buried side-by-side
But we tasted a kiss that was sent from below
It was cool in the night, I was old as a stone
In the back of a car with a child at heart
Who suddenly showed you their teeth

But you say, "Iâ€™m alright
Baby, I donâ€™t mind
Iâ€™ll get on just fine
On them long, long drives"

I keep a letter you wrote before the devil came in the picture
Says, "I've got you now, wrapped around my finger"
And into the mystic, we were blue and outrageous
And every night, I would race the Moon and fall for you
Cause you ache for a drug a that'll never be enough
You're never gonna feel like when he first picked you up
When he drove you around, bought you powder and flowers
Until the thrill was gone

But you said, "Iâ€™m alright
Baby, I donâ€™t mind
Iâ€™ll get on just fine
On them long, long drives"

Last night I remembered being seventeen
I met a girl with a taste for the world and whiskey and rites of spring
Spent every night with cassettes that she liked
In a car that I borrowed a lot
And I could never get her to believe

But you said, "Iâ€™m alright
Baby, I donâ€™t mind
Iâ€™ll get on just fine
On them long, long drives"

Because I'm alright

Janie, I don't mind
I'll get on just fine
On them long, long drives without you
Without you
Without you
Drives without you
