

The Road

Cosmic Railroad

Well, I've wandered around
And I've seen many places
That I call my home
I climb the largest mountain
And I scream unto the Lord
"Show me where to go!" The road is long
And the darkness is dense
But still, I hear the call
To show unto the world
The love of life
That's deep within us all The destiny lies
Within the path
Of the only one who searches
To find the place
That calls to him
Even though the times are uncertain So admit you're wrong
Before the times evolve
You are awoken
And show to the world
The love of life
Please, speak to the unspoken So, journey on, my lost soul
To find your home
The place that fills your heart
To everything that leads you
Theh-eh-ere
Yet throws you from the dark So, breathe
In the air
That has filled
You full of glory
The air
Which, you'll find
May lead
You home
