

Come (A World That Waits)

Daniel Kirkley

Come

Bring all of your burdens
Your fear of what's uncertain
Come and lay it down
Come
There's a world that's broken
But promises were spoken
We don't come alone
Pray
Pray that we will understand
That love is calling, take a stand
Come and take the Father's hand
Come
We can break the walls down
And use our hands to reach out
Shine the light into the dark
Come
Still the war that's raging
He heals the aching heart
There is a world that waits for us
Come
Go

Feed the man whos hungry
Hold the child whos lonely
Find the lost and lead him home
Trust
Pray that we will learn to trust
With every breath His given us
Father, teach us how to love
Come
We can break the walls down
And use our hands to reach out
Shine the light into the dark
Come
Still the war that's raging
He heals the aching heart
There is a world that waits for us
Come
We've gotta love Him
We've gotta love others
Show another beggar
Where we found bread
We should never be afraid
Never forget what He said
I'll be with you till the end
Come and lay it down
Come
Come

Still the war that's raging
He heals the aching heart
There is a world that waits
For us to come We can break the walls down
And use our hands
He heals the heart that's aching
In a desperate world that's waiting
For us to come
Come and lay it down
