

Lisa

Ub40

Red light I admire you from afar
You've changed the way I see
I used to think that I should
Make you be like me But after this short time
Watching what you do
I realize that I
Should strive to be like you Whenever I am near you
I tread so awkwardly
Afraid someone will steal you
I guard you jealously Then sing the world your praises
Let everybody know
That I just saw the future
A place I want to go I admire you from afar
You've changed the way I see
I used to think that I should
Make you be like me But after this short time
Watching what you do
I realize that I
Should strive to be like you I hear you when you're talking
Untouched simplicity
Alive with expectations
In search of what might be, yeah I admire you from afar
You've changed the way I see
I used to think that I should
Make you be like me But after this short time
Watching what you do
I realize that I
Should strive to be like you Then sing the world your praises
Let everybody know
That I just saw the future
The place I want to go I hear you when you're talking
Untouched simplicity
Alive with expectations
In search of what might be, yeah Then sing the world your praises
Let everybody know
That I just saw the future
A place I want to go I hear you when you're talking
Untouched simplicity
Alive with expectations

In search of what might be Then sing the world your praises
Let everybody know
That I just saw the future
A place I want to go

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>