

See You

The Ready Set

A thin white bed
A stack of magazines unread
Three days since you've slept
In this place crawls by
Seconds turn into a lifetime
We should cherish that
Do you know that I am on the brink of something beautiful?
Believe

I'll be here, don't you shed a single tear
Like the memories remind you how to smile
You'll feel me in the sun that warms your skin
As your shadow I will dance with you again
'Cause we don't just flicker and fade
With love, nobody's gone forever
I'll see you when you get there
Simple words
In attempt to dull the hurt
I know you're trying hard
The lull of these machines keeping time with every heartbeat
A soliloquy

Do you know that I am on the brink of something beautiful?
I'll be here, don't you shed a single tear
Like the memories remind you how to smile
You'll feel me in the sun that warms your skin
As your shadow I will dance with you again
'Cause we don't just flicker and fade
With love, nobody's gone forever
I'll see you when you get there
Know we don't just flicker and fade with love, nobody's gone forever
I'll see you when you get there

I traced the word "forever" on your arm
Don't ever let that go
Trade out my broken bones for wings of gold
You'll never be alone

I'll be here, don't you shed a single tear
Like the memories remind you how to smile
You'll feel me in the sun that warms your skin
As your shadow I will dance with you again
'Cause we don't just flicker and fade

With love, nobody's gone forever
I'll see you when you get there
Know we don't just flicker and fade
With love, nobody's gone forever
I'll see you when you get there (I'll see you when you get there)
