Blurry Spring

Suave

Let the thinker down, it's not rocket science
You can just sitting down and waiting for the sign
But I know that if you could never dispatch
Just pull the plug then start everything from the scratch
Now the time can show us a lot of magic hours
It simply took the clock from something undercover Catch the light the just throw it away
Since a false in a pan never beat UV rayLeave your place of comfort zone so you can see I'm standing at light years ahead Stay at the place and you only got some money to burn but the fear stuck in your headYou gotta listen, I think you gotta listen You gotta listenNobody say that no one can change we are, we are in a space of living Scary as we know it's strange
We drowned and we found a blurry spring
Worry but nobody care, ow ow
