Angel At My Door

NEEDTOBREATHE

What do I got to do to my love to make you understand me
Where do I find the piece of your heart to keep you satisfied
What do I got to do to my love to make you even notice
Where do I find the words in my mouth to cut through the air tonightCause every day I know that I am learning
And age, it aint the only thing in life
But if memorys all you have then I cant find you
Beneath those eyesSo we open up the door
Let the music take us further than before
Weve opened up the door
Cause maybe theres an angel standing on the porchHow do I face the man that I am when my hearts still in hiding
Staring me down, the days of my life that Ive gotta justify Maybe I need the cracks in my skin, emotions are hard to carry
Maybe I need the strength in your eyes to cut through the morning timeCause every day I know that I am learning
And age, it aint the only thing in life
But if memorys all you have then I cant find you
Beneath those eyes, yeahSo we open up the door
Let the music take us further than before
We've opened up the door
Cause maybe theres an angel standing on the porchOh, maybe there's an angelOh, maybe theres an angel at my door
Oh, maybe theres an angel at my door
Standing up high, taking this light,
Oh, Im gonna see the shining
Yeah, maybe theres an angel at my door
Oh, maybe theres an angel at my doorWe open up the door
Let the music take us further than before
Gotta open up the door
Cause maybe theres an angel standing on the porchOh, we gotta fall like were behind
Yeah, we gotta fall before we find
Oh, we gotta live like we were poor
Oh, we gotta show what hope is forWe open up the door
Let the music take us further than before
Oh, gotta open up the door
Maybe theres an angel standing on the porch

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/