Without a Fight

Anna Coddington

I am the water filling up the gaps in your life.
I am the sun lighting up the cracks in your mind.
I am the tears spinning from the blacks of your eyes.
I am the future living like a dead weight inside of you.
So don't you ever give me up without a fight.

I am the bulbs growing like magic and pins.
I am the cage in which to put your heart in.
I am the face in which you find forgiveness.
I am the bonus I am all the best bits of you.
So don't you ever give me up without a fight.
Don't you ever give me up without a fight.

You are the life you're my blood in my veins.
You are the gold for all the choices that I made.
You are the face in which I find my release.
You are my future, you are all the best bits of me.

And I will never give you up without a fight.
No I will never give you up without a fight.
