

Novocaine

Kids in Glass Houses

Wanted for never; I never learn to write a true song.

wanted for never, find the words at the end.

wanted for never, I never try something different.

wanted for never, I never say never again. You are Novocaine, you numb my body through. As i lay here again under a violet moon. Half way to heaven, I keep on looking for direction.

At twenty-seven, they send me in a room with a band.

And if I ever, reach, my destination.

We'll be together, with girls kicking legs at the men. You are Novocaine, you numb my body through. As I lay here again under a violet moon. Wanted for never; I never learn to write a true song.

wanted for never, I never say never again.

You are Novocaine, you numb my body through. As I lay here again under a violet moon. Wanted for never; I never learnt to write a true song. Wanted for never; I never learn to write a true song.

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>