The One

Colt McBee

I didnâ€™t even know ya, when my life crashed in yours throwing my whole heart off course, where are you now.
Guess I really didnâ€™t know ya, cause the truth always comes on out, wish that we couldâ€™ve worked some how, what are we now.

Remember the one time that I told you I love you, the one time that your lips touched mine, I keep on replaying all those one nights in my mind. Without ya girl I will never be the same, thought one day that I could change your name. Thought youâ€™d be the one, but youâ€™re just one of the same.

Wish I had a warning before we lit that match before Iâ€™d have to take it all back and burn out, I wish someone would have told me before I gave all in it was the start of what would end with you and me

Remember the one time that I told you I love you, the one time that your lips touched mine, I keep on replaying all those one nights in my mind. Without ya girl I will never be the same, thought one day that I could change your name. Thought youâ€™d be the one, but youâ€™re just one of the same.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/