

Conquer

All The Luck In The World

Inside your head, we go exploring
And your eyes have seen, better days
Once green, now gray
Go on you'll find
Me close behind
And I know that you're near
Just because I'm here
And all you have to do in life is die
Everything else is a choice
And all we've got to do tonight is try
To think over all the noise
And I know I will never understand
But I wish you'd come back and ask for my hand
Cause I'd cut both them off
To see your face
And convince you that it's all such a waste
It's all such a waste
Trees throw their leaves to the ground
And some people live without sound
To the man with a plan to take all he can Remember, trees throw their leaves to the ground
Trees throw their leaves to the ground
And some people live without sound
To the young little boy who lost all his toys
At least you're no leaf for now x3
