Toe to Toe

Randy Brecker

Someday you will grow up and learn to lie
Just like your daddy did when he told you no one ever really dies
I hope that I'm not there when you realize
That those with their nose in the air will never look you in the eyeAnd you will go
Toe to toe
Like David and Goliath
Who will be Goliath
And will you will throw the stone?I don't know
Yeah I don't know
Said the man with all of the answers
If he don't have the answers
How will I ever know?I knew an old man
With nothing to do but wait
He invited himself
And he still showed up lateWhen it came to the end of the night
He would always overstay
But I never had a reason to complain
'Til the day that he stopped coming by and I missed his companyAnd you will go
Toe to toe
Like David and Goliath
They will be Goliath
And you will throw the stoneI don't know
Yeah I don't know
Said the man with all of the answers
If he don't have the answers
How will I ever knowAnd I don't care
What you do with the little time everyone gets
As long as you do the math, choose a path that'll never hurt anyone elseAlthough they'll hurt you
Make damn sure they've heard you
They will not forgetSomeday I will find you and stop on by
And you'll say: "How've you been"
And I'll say: "I've been fine"But we will both know that it's a lie
Turns out what I figured out was I was wrong and you were rightAnd you will go
Toe to toe
Like David and Goliath
They will be Goliath
And you will throw the stoneI don't know
Yeah I don't know
Said the man with all of the answers

If he don't have the answers
How will I ever know

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/