Crimson Dawn

Seth Lakeman

One fateful night, well I woke to hear that sound like a gunshot, with both windows shaking loud.
Great lengthy cries that came racing through the sky, from a fearsome wreck,
a great dagger stuck in her deck.(chorus)
Crimson Dawn,
my heart was torn,
a midnight rescue we were called upon, a freedom fire with burning eyes, a figure tangled up in turning tidesso i cut her free and find....This floating town it'd broke up, run aground when the call came out to put fair Charlotte in so we ploughed those waves with a hundred left to save in the fading light, well i held on strong and tight(chorus)ill stay with you 'til the morning light in the turning tide ill set you freesharp rocks we braved, for the last hand i would save, it was a beauty fair with wild and tangled hair, thick rope entwined well i cut her free and find that your fast embrace, well i held her face to face.(chorus)so i cut her free and find in turning tides
so i cut her free and find
in turning tides
ill stay with you 'til the morning light ill set you freeit was a fateful night when i woke to hear that sound like a gunshot, with both windows shaking loud.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/