After You're Gone

Blindside

I could not lie

Skin untouched growing thicker for every step unwalked

And I don't know if it's the cold intention-slide

Taking me downBut what if you'd sing me alive

I'm ready to give up the fight

'Cause I'm just a stone

Right after you're gone

Right after you're gone

Right after you're goneI could not lie

Even though dead skin like stone makes me ugly

It still pounds inside and it's red

And it's slipping through the grey cracks

And I know you knowBut what if you'd sing me alive

I'm ready to give up the fight

'Cause I'm just a stone

Right after you're gone

Right after you're gone

Right after you're goneBut what if you'd sing me alive

I'm ready to give up the fight

Cause I'm just a stone

Right after you're gone

Right after you're gone

Right after you're goneBut what if you'd sing me alive

I'm ready to give up the fight

'Cause I'm just a stone

Right after you're gone

Right after you're goneThe first thing that meets the eye

When I crossover into the light

I want it to be

Right after I'm gone

Right after I'm gone

Right after I'm gone
