

Glass Houses

The Chartbusters

There's a killer, there's a killer
There's a killer comin' down
It sounds just like a whisper
Form the corner of her pretty mouth
If you run like this forever
Your engine will break down
Beside that snowing river
Leaves into the ground
You're building glass houses on the sand
Where you stand around and shake your head
When they all fall down
Some damage here
So tell me if there something's lost and nothing's found
You just build yourself another
A little frozen down
There's a murder, there's a murder
There's a murder going down
It happens all around here
But no one makes a sound
'Cause you're the one who's dying
Behind a mask so brown
Beside that snowy river
Beyond your nose and mouth
You're building glass houses on the sand
Where you stand around and shake your head
When they all fall down
Some damage here
So tell me if there something's lost and nothing's found
You just build yourself another
A little frozen down
You just build yourself another one
Little frozen down
