Your Letter

112

I saw a letter lying on the floor
I couldn't help but look inside
I thought it was something that you must have left
Left there for me to findAll your words were on that page
For all my dreams came true that day
I found your letter, your letterIt said, you loved me but you didn't know the words to say
It said, you never knew that you could ever feel this way
It said, you only wish someday that I would feel the same
In your letter, your letter, ohI guess it just never occurred to me
That you would feel the way I did
You kept the sweetest secret from my heart
You kept those feelings inNo, you never showed a sign
Or gave a clue to what I'd find inside
Your letter, your letterIt said, you loved me but you didn't know the words to say
It said, you never knew that you could ever feel this way
It said, you only wish someday that I would feel the same
In your letter, your letterI was so happy that I almost cried
To think that you would think of me that way
It's like it took my sweetest dream
And made that dream come true
I would be with you alwaysI saw a name I didn't recognize
I felt the tears come to my eyes
Seeing that the love that you've been longing for
Was another love, not mineNo, you never showed a sign
But it was right there in the lines
Inside your letter, your letter, ohIt said, you loved him but you didn't know the words to say
It said, you never knew that you could ever feel this way
It said, you only wish someday that he would feel the same
In your letter, your letterI saw a letter lying on the floor
Oh, yeah, your letter
I'm sorry[Incomprehensible]
Come again
