Over

Embrace

You drag yourself over the coals
I know you're sorry to go
But when all you can do is say so
I know it's overI won't waste one more hour of my life
I know some people would cry
Well, it's funny that none spring to mind
Now it's overAnd I know that this feeling won't last
I know that this feeling won't lastTime after time after time
There's never reason in your rhyme
I'm just trying to feel one last goodbye
Now it's overAnd I'd shake some sense into us both
I was the last one you told
Why does no one say shit till it shows?
Now it's overAnd I know that this feeling won't last
And I know that this feeling won't lastThe sun, it shines on me
So I tell myself for a hope in this hell
That I should stay right down here where I fell
