Blur

Thrice

The shutter opens but never closes,
 I am waylaid, in light trails.
 Endless moments, overlaid and burned across
 A melee of scattered braille.
 This image is a night-terror transforming
 Without the hope of morning.

My nemesis, I feel it coming for me, and it means to destroy me.
 Why does this keep happening?
 I try to close my eyes but I can't blink
And the world keeps moving on, black and white blur into one.
Hieroglyphic, indecipherable, opaque; the meaning escapes me.

Dry and lidless, are my eyes.

Asleep, awake - reading the slurred debris.

This image is a night-terror transforming
Without the hope of morning.

My nemesis, I feel it coming for me, and it means to destroy me.

Why does this keep happening?

I try to close my eyes but I can't blink

And the world keeps moving on, black and white blur into.

Why does this keep happening?

I try to close my eyes but I can't blink

And the world keeps moving on, black and white blur into one.
