

Broken

Sentenced

I have come a long way where I started from but I'm still not even close to where I'm going (and now) I can no longer see the shine that has been lighting up my way I cannot feel its glowingThe fire in my heart is dying and the zeal I had is goneThis path that I've chosen's a rocky one Long, hard and frozen it has become Each turn that I've taken on the way has only led me back to Hell
 I am dying down growing weaker now
 It could seem that I'm doing fine but I'm broken to little pieces deep insideWhy did I ever choose to go this way
 The question I keep asking myself all the time I guess it was my instinct for self-destruction that pointed me down this wayThe fire in my eyes is dying and the dream I had is goneThis path that I've chosen's a rocky one Long, hard and frozen it has become
 Each turn that I've taken on the way
 has only led me back to Hell
 I am dying down growing weaker now
 It could seem that I'm doing fine
but I'm broken to little pieces deep inside
