Static On Channel 4

Elefant

Moon and stars above us shine everybody knows you're mine
Static on the Channel 4
Television radio, hold me close when you are cold
Now I've got to get us home, everybody knows you're stoned
When you hear me calling you will turn around
And see me standing there waving my old colors
Lifting up my arms and you will understand
You will understand you will understand
Kiss me on the lips again
Millions are just tuning in

Satellites begin to spin
Listen close and let me in
When you hear me calling you will turn around
And see me standing there waving my old colors
Lifting up my arms and you will understand
You will understand you will understand
You will understand you will understand
You will understand you will understand
You will understand you will understand
