

Maybe One Summer

Aubrey Ashburn

I remember...
making excuses
for what set me apart
and I remember
wanting you to need me I remember watching you lie when I had to believe you and I are called something of a mystery and I, I was not healed to lay down with you
just to keep you
coming back for more I wish that I could forget maybe one summer it'll drift away I remember all of those eyes
that were hating me hard when all the faces
were falling all around me and I, I ran away to meet the world and I could justify laying down to die (X5) I wish that I could forget maybe one summer it'll drift away

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>