

I'd Love to Break It to You

NateWantsToBattle

Walking on the line
Directions leads you to who knows where
Say you're doing fine
But no one asked and nobody cares Now I'm watching from the outside
Hear all the outcries
But no one will lend a hand
They're setting up and you're the punchline
You learned you're never in demand You're on your own
Such a damn shame
I'd have to break it to you You're all alone
You oughta just stay quiet
You can't do that can you?
Parading like you own the place
But give it time we'll all forget your face You're on your own
Such a damn shame
No one's ever coming for you Staring at the sky
You dream to one day become that star
The journey's do or die
But you're not willing to go that far Now I'm watching from the upside
You're on the decline
And now you're falling way too fast
They're setting up but you're not in sight
Because you know that you can't last You're on your own
Such a damn shame
I'd have to break it to you
You're all alone
You oughta just stay quiet
You can't do that can you? Parading like you own the place
But give it time we'll all forget your face You're on your own
Such a damn shame
No one's ever coming for you
(It's Such a damn shame
No one's ever coming for you) Said I'm watching from the upside
You're on the decline
And now you're falling way too fast
They're setting up but you're not in sight
You're talking tongue tied
'Cause you know you can't last Now I'm watching from the outside
Hear all the outcries

But no one will lend a hand
They're setting up and you're the punchline
You learned you're never in demand You're on your own
Such a damn shame
I'd have to break it to you You're all alone
You oughta just stay quiet
You can't do that can you? Parading like you own the place
But give it time we'll all forget your face You're on your own
Such a damn shame
No one's ever coming for you
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>