Unresolved

AdyS

when the time comes it will fall apart

trying to be aware of the things that surround me everytime

a little bit of my life is broken apart

the picture of the illusion inside my mind it was once mine, but my eyes were blind it was a mistake to make it go behind i ran out of time, i didn't see the sign if it was true, i would never leave you i would find the time to make things right to make things fine as it was before define the undefine

and straighten the line but it seems that some things will never shine
