

Love Came Here

Lhasa de Sela

There is no end to this story
No final tragedy or glory
Love came here and never left Now that my heart is open
It can't be closed or broken
Love came here and never left Now I'll have to live with loving you forever
Although our days of living life together
Of living life together are over There's nothing here to throw away
I came to you in light of day
And love came here and never left.
