Your Face

Lemar

When I'm tired of all the lying, have no one to hold on to
When the tears are falling, the sun seems to hide behind the moon
Open arms I'm calling, nothin' ever will replace
Though I know you're watching, I wish that I could see your face
Sometimes I find a corner and I just wanna be alone
I don't wanna say no prayers and I won't answer the phone
You showed me everybody goes through problems
Everybody cries, but no one can show you what to do
When you lose someone in life
I need you now even more than the air I breathe
You always intervened when things got too hard for me
Where are you now?
Can you reach me somehow?
When I'm tired of all the lying have no one to hold on to
When the tears are falling, the sun seems to hide behind the moon
Open arms I'm calling nothin' ever will replace
Though I know you're watching, I wish that I could see your face

Many times though I'm surrounded, I still feel so alone
That's when you send a sign to me
That somehow makes me strong
It's only when you've been there
That the words become so true
I'd give up everything I own for one last dance with you
I think about you each and every single day
I promise, I won't let your memory fade away
How are you now?
Can you tell me somehow?
When I'm tired of all the lying have no one to hold on to
When the tears are falling, the sun seems to hide behind the moon
Open arms I'm calling nothin' ever will replace
Though I know you're watching, I wish that I could see your face
I wish that I could see your face
Sometimes I find a corner and I break down and cry
I wish that I could see your face
