Sway

Lostprophets

When the sun comes down
Will the rain wash away
All the hopes of the brave into another day, another day
When the trees start to sway
And the wind makes them move
I can tell that you don't know
To all the fights
I've conquered and behold
The times have changed
And I will now move over slowly
Look through it all
I still feel lost without you
Hard to find a new soul
As silence takes its toll
You sway, when you are lost
You sway, when you don't know
You sway, when all you want is to find home
As the light pours in
Feel the volume of the sky
Mark your place in time
With another question why
Tiny flickers in the night
Always looking to be right
To all the fights

I've conquered and behold
The times have changed
And I will now move over slowly
Look through it all
I still feel lost without you
Hard to find a new soul
As silence takes its toll
You sway, when you are lost
You sway, when you don't know
You sway, when all you want is to find home
You sway, when you are lost
You sway, when you don't know
You sway, when all you want is to find home
You sway

You sway
You sway
{[Incomprehensible]}
I want lightning
I'm [Incomprehensible] in the truth
I want lightning

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/