Forget About You

Graham Colton

Forget About You
It?s been one year to the day
Since I watched you drive away with only street lights glowing
Here we are now face to face fumbling all the words to say
Hiding feelings that I don?t want showing now

I am useless young and stupid for thinking I?ll get over you
I?ll make excuses but the truth is
It?s the best that I can do
I can?t forget about you

We?d spend every day and night and never left each other?s side
But I never asked you what you?re thinking
Cuz it?s been one year to the day
Here we are now face to face
Now it feels like I am slowly sinking down

(chorus)

Every night I stayed up thinking my mind?s made up
Every memory I hold on to
If I could only have a minute
I know how I?d spend it saying everything I feel for you
I feel for you

I am useless young and stupid for thinking I?ll get over you
There?s no excuses cuz the truth is
There?s nothing left for me to do
I can?t forget about you
Forget about you
I can?t forget about you
I won?t forget about you
Forget about you
I can?t forget about you
