Something's Going On

Lambchop

There so much I want to know
In every day in every notice
The hour, it is going slow
So how am I to show this?And I've got this feelingSomething's going on Something's going on
Something's going on
Something's going onWake up in a kinda sweat
Fingers slightly numb and shaking
Blood flows back into your hand
Must be the way you have been sleepingAnd I've got this feelingSomething's going on
Something's going on
Something's going on
Something's going onThe hats that were stacked on the shelf
The glasses, the clock the wall
The picture of Michael and BubblesSomething's going on
Something's going on
Something's going on
Something's going onThey could give a tick or tock
And maybe that would be the problem
Well, this could be a simple thought
Of something that is meant to solve itAnd I've got this feelingSomething's going on
Something's going on
Something's going on
Something's going onSomething's going on
Something's going on
Something's going on
