

Someday

Kim Wilde

Written by ricki & kim wilde

Do you remember when tears fell like rain

When hearts got broken again and again

The disillusionment after the pain

Seems everything stays the same

But time goes by and you've further to fall

You build your life like you're building a wall

Then it surrounds you, and though you may call

You're voice is so small

And all your expectations of how life should be

Have needed correction

There is no perfection but

Someday maybe you'll stop living

In a world of fantasy

Someday open up your mind and see

Live in a reality

Life's in your hands but you're closing your mind

Cos you're afraid of the mess you will find

You're scared that's love gonna leave you behind

That you're running out of time

And all your expectations of how life should be

Have needed correction

There is no perfection

But

Someday maybe you'll stop living

In a world of fantasy

One day open up your mind and see

Live in a reality

Someday maybe you'll stop looking

For a world of make believe

One day open up your eyes and see

Make it a reality

Stop crying

Looking at life through bitter tears

And face your fears

To reveal the truth inside

Just like a child

Someday maybe you'll stop living

In a world of fantasy
One day open up your mind and see
Live in a reality
Maybe you'll stop looking
For a world of make believe
Someday open up your eyes and see
Make it a reality
Someday...
Someday...

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>