

Everglade

Antony and the Johnsons

When Im floating in the water
And your eyes are lilies all around
When Im lying sweetly in my bed
The sun plays crystal with my eyes Then I stop
My body stops crying for home
My limbs stop weeping for home When Im peeping in a parlour of trees
And the leaves are winking all around
Im home, my heart sobs in my veins
But brains they play the softest games Fingers kiss the string
Mouth taste the blade
Of everglade (x3)
