

My Town

Montgomery Gentry

There's a for sale sign on a big ol rusty tractor you can't miss it it's the first thing that you'll see and just up the road a pale blue water tower with I love jenny painted in bright green and that's my uncle ray there by the courthouse he'll be lowering the flag when the sun goes down this is my town where I was born where I was raised where I keep all my yesterday's where I ran off cause I got mad when it came to blows with my old man where I came back to settle down it's where they'll put me in the ground this is my town my town well there ain't much goin on here since they closed the mill but that whistle still blows every day at noon there's a bunch of us still going down to the diner wondering if that interstate still coming through come Sunday morning service at the church of Christ there ain't an empty seat to be found this is my town REPEAT CHORUS well I bought and painted up that rusty tractor you can't miss it it's sitting right there in our yard the county came and took that water tower and that's my jenny with the babies in the car and we're off the Sunday service at the church of Christ and if we want a seat we better leave right now maybe later me and uncle ray will show you around my town
this is my town
REPEAT CHORUS

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>