

Turn

Therapy?

Turn and face the strange
The door is open, you're awake
You're storming heaven without thought
You're storming heaven without God Remember I know where you live
And I know you're on your own
I may forget, I don't forgive
I'm always home You turn and face the strange
You turn and face yourself I know when you lie
The brightness darkens in your eyes
This is yours to take control
This is yours now hold your own Remember I know where you live
And I know you're on your own
I may forget, I don't forgive
I'm always home You turn and face the strange
You turn and face yourself Barging into the presence of God
Barging into the presence of God
Barging into the presence of God
Barging into the presence of God (You turn)
Barging into the presence of God
(You turn)
Barging into the presence of God (You turn)
Barging into the presence of God
(You turn)
Barging into the presence of God (You turn)
Barging into the presence of God

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>