

Escape From Hellview

CKY

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

the fire dies on it's own leaving us to ourselves but not exactly alone I think that someone is out there waiting anticipation has grown the air is black as can be can't even see that my hand is in front of me I'm overheard a whisper "they won't escape until the blood is set free" so turn back the silence is deafening turn back don't let them see you again they make their rounds at the midnight hour and on the clock it's just a minute away so we're hours awake and our only mistake is we bleed and the hunger for the living helps them hunt it with the greatest of ease now I'm finding my friends hanging from trees, made a bed of a barbed wire fence I'm on the loose with my neck in the noose but hey...
I enjoy the intense turn back the silence is deafening turn back don't let them see you again
they make their rounds at the midnight hour and
on the clock it's just a minute away so we're hours awake and our only mistake is we bleed
and the hunger for the living helps them hunt it with the greatest of ease no experience could ever match the sight of when a person is through if it's the last thing I will do I'll be the one who will escape from hellview...and I will turn back the silence is deafening
turn back don't let them see you again they make the rounds at the midnight hour and on the clock it's just a minute away [twice] so we're hours awake and our only mistake is we bleed
and the hunger for the living helps them hunt it with the greatest of ease
no experience could ever match the sight of when a person is through if it's the last thing I will do I'll be the one that will escape from hellview...and I will.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>