

Through the Eyes of Uriel

Alesana

On the edge of reason, beyond understanding Silent she waits, perfect oblivion
Sheâ€™s crawling to the end, perfect oblivion

I live behind mirrors within a prison without any bars
Yet I remain lost to the world
In hell Iâ€™m suspended within a prism
So many walls, so many years, so many lives
Too often Iâ€™ve watched them die

Images of yesterday feeling so far away

I canâ€™t let go of the past, the years, the sweet romance
I am a ticking time bomb waiting in a trance
I need you more tonight than you will ever know
I swear to never forget this heartbreaking dance

The hell of being trapped is simply not a match for death
Heaven awaits
Now I know not to be afraid of the end
My love awaits, will you be there? Take me away Iâ€™m ready, Iâ€™ll be home soon

Images of yesterday feeling so far away

I canâ€™t let go of the past, the years, the sweet romance
I am a ticking time bomb waiting in a trance
I need you more tonight than you will ever know
I swear to never forget this heartbreaking dance beautiful pure silence, come on! Embrace me sweet perfect nothing swallow my fears, come on!

If I had just one wish Iâ€™d choke prophets, hang angels, burn children oh, Iâ€™d drink oceans, eat the moon, flood the world, end everything breathe in, breathe out we could run far away but then how would we sleep at night?

Iâ€™ve been looking for the words to say our last goodbyes

Hold on to fleeting hopes that I just might survive

Give in to the pleasure make it last forever
Hold on hold on to everything we are
