Stigmatized

Biohazard

Emptiness slips into my mind
Emotion so fucking hard to find
I center myself in this universe
With peace amongst all the pains and hurtsI think of all the things that would've been
And the time I could've spent with him
But again comes sadness creeping in
Again comes sadness creeping inTaken by surprise stigmatized
By the things I've seen with my own eyes
Traumatized until I realize
That I gotta go on with my lifeI can only guess what I should've done then
Wandering alone on the path I've chosen
Lumbering along towards inevitable fate
I await an answer, I wrestle with hateI question your life and the choices you made
I question myself with righteousness and rage
Confused and sick from mistakes I've made
Confused and sick from mistakes I've madeTaken by surprise stigmatized
By the things I've seen with my own eyes
Traumatized until I realize
That I gotta go on with my lifeStigmatized
StigmatizedQuestions to ponder about letting go
Answers I find towards peaceful flow
People take shit for granted as given
Not in this world that I live inStigmatized
StigmatizedQuestions to ponder about letting go
Answers I find towards peaceful flow
People take shit for granted as given
Not in this world that I live inIn my eyes, stigmatized
I realize, stigmatized
No more lies, stigmatized
Stigmatized, stigmatized
