

I'm A Cuckoo (Teachers)

Belle and Sebastian

Glad to see you, I had a funny dream
And you were wearing funny shoes, you were going to a dance
You were dressed like a punk but you are too young to remember I'm glad to see you, I'm outside the house
I'm not thinking right today, I've got no energy
I'm glad that you were waiting with me, tell me all about your day Breaking off this misery
I see a wilderness for you and me
Punctuated by philosophy
I'm wondering how things could've been I'm happy for you, you've made it hard for me
I counted on your company, you are staying with your friends tonight
I'm feeling sorry for myself, I keep taking everything to be to be a sign I'm happy for you but now I know this hurt is poison
Too sharp to be bled, I'm sitting on my empty bed
On my empty bed at night the fever grows it's pounding, pounding I'd rather be in Tokyo, I'd rather listen to Thin Lizzy-oh
Watch the Sunday Gang in Harajuku
There's something wrong with me, I'm a cuckoo Scary moment and lovin' every moment, I was high from playing shows
We lost a singer to her clothes, my trouble raised its ugly head
I was revealed and I was home in bed, I was a kid again Jesus told me, "Go after every coin like it was The last in the world and protect the wayward child"
But I'm a little lost sheep
I need my Bo Peep, you know I need my shepherd here tonight Breaking off this misery
I see a wildness for you and me
Punctuated by philosophy
I'm wondering how things could've been I'd like to see you but really I should stay away and let you settle down
I've got no claims to your crown, I was the boss of you
And I loved you, you know I loved you, it's all over now And I was there for you when you were lonely
I was there when you were bad, I was there when you were sad
Now it's my time of need, I'm thinking
Do I have to plead to get you by my side? I'd rather be in Tokyo, I'd rather listen to Thin Lizzy-oh
And watch the Sunday Gang in Harajuku
There's something wrong with me, I'm a cuckoo
