Live

Kara Klein

I am not if there is any more to say to you
There is nothing in this whole world you have not been through
I know it seems as if this world will never end
You don't know who is the enemy or who is a friend
I know it seems as you have passed the point of no return
And bridges that one time were laid now are gone
But if I could have one just one thing left to say
With all my heart this I hope and this I pray

I hope you live
I hope you find
The man I see I see inside of you
The one you search for all your life
I hope that wild heart of yours is steadfast and true
And that it will be you redeemer rescue

I hope you give yourself a chance
Even if it means a fall
I hope you still give it your all
I hope you find the one and break the chains that bind you
That you might let go and start anew

That you might Live
I know it seems temptation knocks at every door
And safety no longer feels like before
I know you live life on the edge, you walk the line
Chasing every single thrill to buy your time
I know you never thought you would lose all control
You never meant to go this far or sell your soul

But every time I look into your eyes
I see a broken wounded child pass in disguise

Trying to live
Trying to find
The man that deep inside
The one you search for all your life
Trying to ensure that heart of yours is steadfast and true
And trying to find someone you can rise to
Trying to win just one more chance

A chance to prove that you wonâ€™t fall
That you can still give it your all
Looking for the key to unlock the chains that bond you
That you might let go and start anew

That you might live
