Phoenix

Carpark North

Hold on, hold onto this.
Here is the light
that's gonna get you through this.
You have the darkest hour of your life
but this is the turning point that brings you back to life.I know that change is hard and doesn't happen over night, but if you wanna be playing for the winning side
you have got to listen
and step into the game.
Just turn it up, close your eyes, you will never be the same.Get up, you will never be the same again.
Get, get up and burn it all down.Stand up, get up, dig in and do this.
I'll walk alone in the dark until you get through this.
The doors are closing,
curtains going down,
but there's something you have found that will turn it all around.Cause I can tell by the look in your eyes that there's a fire burning inside.
Do you remember when it lit up the sky?
So light it up, close your eyes,
you will never be the same.And when everything crashes, there's not a sound to be heard.
You've gotta rise from the ashes,
you can change it all
and you'll never be the same.Get up, you will never be the same again.
Get, get up and burn it all down.Hold on, hold onto this.
Here is the light that's gonna get you through this.
You have the darkest hour of your life
but this is the turning point that brings you back to life.Get up, you will never be the same again.
Get, get up and burn it all down.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/