Unchanged

Martin Dupont

Who are you?
I'd love to get to know
I doubt that I will
Will ever get to know
My hand wasn't bit
It just went unnoticed
We just lost a bit of the glow
The sound that you hear
Is bitter and fear
Trying not to showAll I can hope for is I remain unchanged
All I give up for is drowning down the drainI'm so happy
I wanna fake my smile
I'll just hate you
For a little while
Don't ask much
But they say it's too much
It's all more than you should want
In between the us and me
It's the chosen in front, out frontAll I can hope for is I remain unchanged
All I give up for is drowning down the drain
All I can hope for is I remain unchanged
All expectations fall shorter every dayI can't give you more of meFeeling misleading
You can't keep the world at bay
You keep keep repeating
Keep pushing me away
My hand wasn't bit
It just went unnoticed
We just lost a bit of the glow
The sound that you hear
Is bitter and fear
Trying not to show
