

Silent Movie

Natasha Bedingfield

Aye yeah yeah, we're in a picture black and white
Who took the light out of my life when you gave in?
We're playing out our different roles
We should be wanting the same goals, listening, forgiving, oh
Oh, why can't we communicate when the main feature is just beginning? In the silent movie there's no talking
You're just an actor
So break into my story, take it over
Paint me with color Everybody's speaking but you don't know what they're saying
You're just guessing meanings
Interpreting emotion through a window that is broken
We're just testing feelings
Oh, why can't we communicate when the main feature is just beginning? In the silent movie there's no talking
You're just an actor
So break into my story, take it over
Paint me with color Step into the movie, you can be my leading man
Break into the silence so your heart can understand
Step into the movie, we could walk along the sand
Let me stand beside you, put your life into my hand Don't you know you love me like you never loved yourself?
Don't you know you love me like you never loved yourself?
Don't you know you love me like you never loved yourself?
Don't you know you love me like you never loved yourself? In the silent movie there's no talking
You're just an actor
So break into my story, take it over
Paint me with color In the silent movie there's no talking
You're just an actor
So break into my story, take it over
Paint me with color

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>