Show Me Light

Ramin Karimloo

I touched the grave, it's not too far away.
I'm down so low, there's nowhere left to go.
And now finally, finally, the blackest skies are calling me.
Why can't I cheat the claws of destiny.As the nightmares come, I recall the sun.Show me light, just a glimpse of hope.
Show me light, I need a miracle, a miracle tonight.
Tonight, I'll try to find as the darkness dies.
If you could just show me, show me light.I cut the pain to set the demons free.
And take a breath to heal the hurt in me.
And now finally, finally, the grace of faith is lifting me.
But can I be all you have in me.Still the nightmares come and I'm praying for the sun.Show me light, just a glimpse of hope.
Show me light, I need a miracle, a miracle tonight.
Tonight, I'll try to find as the darkness dies.
If you could just show me, show me light.I think I can find my way.
I know where the oceans meet the barren skies it's their stream.
I think I can find my home.
And break through these sullen clouds.
Oh, you know the face reflected in the glass deserves the love of someone.
And the warmth of the sun, the warmth of the sun.Show me light, just a glimpse of hope.
Show me light, I need a miracle, a miracle tonight.
Tonight, I'll try to find as the darkness dies.
If you could just show me, show me light.
